Produced by Udhayanidhi Stalin, the film stars Vijay in the title role with Trisha and Suman in other prominent roles. Vivek, Ashish Vidyarthi, Manivannan and Malavika played supporting roles in the film. The film was published on May 3rd. The film was doubled in Telugu as Dopidi, in Hindi as Jo Jeeta Wohi Baazigar[4] and in Malayalam with the same title. [5] The film made decent collections and was a higher than average success at the office of the inner box. [6] The story revolves around a car driver who thinks his missing father is dead, so he tries to recover the money owed to his father by a Malaysian crime boss. The film collected $1018120 or 88 chromes and was successful at the box office overseas. [7][8][9] It was one of the most growing Tamil films of 2008 only in the United Kingdom, collecting $263919 or $3 chrome. [10] In 2021, the film was republished in the state of Kerala. [11] Rediff saw that Vivek and Vijay's comic-timing worked together and paved the way for a certain average success in Kuruvi. [3] Trama Vetrivel alias Velu is a car driver who lives with his big family in Chennai. His father, Singamuthu, had gone to Kadapa in Andhra Pradesh to work in a necklace and never returned, pushing Velu and his family to think he died. Velu learns that a Malaysia Mon named Koccha owes his father a huge amount of money. Velu and the Friend Ops travel to Malaysia at a time when rivalry and internal problems are going on in Koccha's family. Kocca Radhadevi's younger sister, aka Devi, refused to marry Soori, the brother of Konda Reddy, Koccha's Kadapa partner. Irritated and worried, neither Koccha nor his henchmen want to devote time or attention to solving Velu's problem. Velu is mistreated and thrown out of Koccha's place without any help rendered. Determined to return to India only after his father's problem has been solved to his satisfaction, Velu hides in Koccha's residence. He steals a large diamond owned by Koccha, feeling he'd pay off his father's debt, and he'll go back to India with Ops. Devi also follows Velu to India, being in love with him, when he saves her from falling from a tall building on New Year's Eve. Knowing that Velu has stolen his diamond, Koccha and his gang visit Velu's home and threaten his family with disastrous consequences unless Velu discovers that his father is not dead, but is held as a tied labor along with many innocent people in Kadapa. Singamutu had discovered diamonds at the mine, but refused to allow Koccha and Konda Reddy to illegally extract the diamonds for their own benefit. He'd been a prisoner in Kadapa ever since. Velu immediately leaves for Kadapa, where he meets Koccha again. Throws him on a moving train, paralyzes him. He soon discovers a slave camp run by Koccha and Konda Reddy (Ashish Vidyarthi) at the mine, where a noisy womanizer named Kadapa Raja (G. V. Sudhakar Naidu) is torturing detainees, including Singamutu. He took Konda Reddy's body to Koccha's villa. Koccha, who now uses a On casters, he takes up to see the dead body of his colleague and tries to shoot shoot He is arrested at that time by a special task force led by Raj (Nassar). Singamuthu and the others who were imprisoned in the slave camp are finally released and reunited with their families. Finally, Kaluja's father (in English) was announced in 2007 that Udhayanidhi Stalin, son of M. K. Stalin and grandson of then Prime Minister Tamil Nadu M. Karunanidhi would produce films under his banner of production Red Giant Movies. [14] The film marked Dharani's return and announced the project called Kuruvi with most of the cast and crew of the previous film Ghilli. It was rumored that Kuruvi was named because © the lead He was called Guru V who turned out to be false. [15] Kuruvi or Pure is the term used by the Tamils in Southeast Asia against illegal immigrants[16]. Vidya Balan and Nayanthara were initially approached as heroes of the film. [17] But Trisha was chosen to be paired with Vijay for the fourth time after Ghilli (2004), Thirupaachi (2005) and Aathi (2006). Vadivelu was initially approached for the film, but was replaced by Vivek. An acrobatic scene has been imagined with Vijay confronting a few men belonging to the African mafia in a huge bar-cum-discotheque erected for this purpose. In Kuruvi, the director used a helicopter to shoot a whole sequence of songs, shot in Kuala Lumpur. [20] In the KL Tower, a large set was erected in the cinema town of MGR for most of the film. The team had also set up another set near Sriperumbudur to shoot a sequence of songs, with some models from Bangalore and Mumbai. Unfortunately, the rains held the footage for two days after the end of the model call sheet. [21] Another fighting scene was described at AVM Studios with a large set similar to a bar. [23] The film was released at the Little Flower Convent on April 16th in Chennai. [24] Behindwoods wrote: Vidyasagar seems to have reinvented himself as a rather noisy composer here! The metal twang that accompanies the songs is not too pleasant. Perhaps the plot requires such treatment, but you leave wondering if Vidyasagar had a great pleasure in doing so." Vijay 03:55 Release Kuruvi has received mixed reviews. Behindwoods rated the movie at 2.5 out of 5 stars and said "If you go to see Kuruvi with low expectations, I might end up liking you, but those looking for big accumulation sequences and big Ghilli-like payoffs stay away. "[29] Sify wrote: "To give Dhanani his due, Kuruvi is comfortable in some parts, for Vijay's die-hard fans. For ordinary viewers, the film lacks a basic story and stretches from a patience for almost three hours." [30] Rediff wrote: "Kuruvi has everything to face Vijay fan" But Dhanani the director is lost in this mix of fist-fighting and elementary comedy". [31] Ananda Vikatan rated the film 39 out of 100. [32] IndiaGlitz wrote: "Kuruvi, a racy thriller loaded with romance and action, is a real treat for Vijay fans." [33] Hindu wrote: "Kuruvi tries better to fly high, only the effort is not enough because Ghilli had previously climbed much higher. Obviously, Dhana continues to the momentum and things move quickly to the center point." [34] Satellite rights to the film were sold to Kalaignar TV in Tamil and Kairali TV in Tamil and Kairali in Malayalam, see "Kuruvi" correctly means "Sparrow", but it also means a superhero character.
